The Lion who went to the Bounce House

Once upon a time, there was a fluffy, hairy, happy lion who wanted an ice cream. One day he went to the Bounce House. He dropped his ice cream.

Luckily, he bought another one that was rainbow coloured and sweet.

Finally, he played and had fun.

The End.

The Unicorn finds its way Home

Once upon a time there was a Unicorn, a Bear, an Ogre and a Spiderman in the secret forest.

In the night sky fireworks went POP! BANG! BOOM!

The Unicorn was going to the camp to make a campfire when, suddenly, the Ogre appeared and caught the Unicorn and took him away to the Dragon where it lived in a castle. The Dragon put him in a dungeon.

In the castle the lights were flickering and the staircase was moving. The sofa was running up and down the stairs. It was all very strange.

Meanwhile the Unicorn was screaming for help.

A Fairy heard him and flew into the dungeon and created a rainbow. Then Spiderman came and rescued the Unicorn by going over the rainbow and leading him out.

The Unicorn led Spiderman and the Fairy out of the forest and all the way home and they lived happily ever after.

The End.

The Amazing Adventures of Bunny and Pigeon

There once was a bunny called Sammy. Sammy and his Mummy and Daddy went to the trash to throw things away. They were so busy that they didn't notice that, when they went home, they had left Sammy behind.

Sammy was walking all alone when, suddenly, he saw the soil moving! He bent down to look and saw there was a pigeon half buried in the soil. He helped the pigeon to get free.

"I'm Zoey," said the pigeon.

"I'm Sammy," said Sammy.

They became the best of friends and lived happily ever after.

The End.

The Pigeon who was Scared of Water

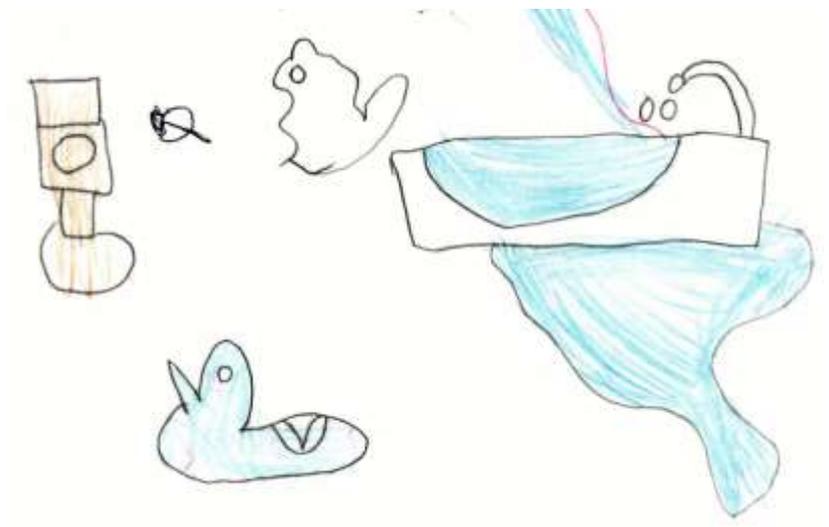

Pingo the pigeon was scared of the bath. She didn't want to get into it because the water was freezing cold and she knew that, as soon as she touched the cold water, her secret would be revealed.

She was a demon.

She wasn't a nasty demon and so she had friends. Her friends decided to help her and they took her for a nice warm shower instead.

So Pingo got clean and still kept her secret and lived happily ever after with her friends.

The End.

Zoe the Princess Fairy and Scoobidy the Unicorn

Once upon a time there was a lovely fairy called Zoe. She lived in a castle in the woods. She was very lonely and needed a friend.

So, what happened?

How will it end?

She cried all night because she was so lonely. She wondered if she would ever have a friend to call her own.

One day, when it was raining, Zoe saw a rainbow. Zoe decided to climb up the rainbow.

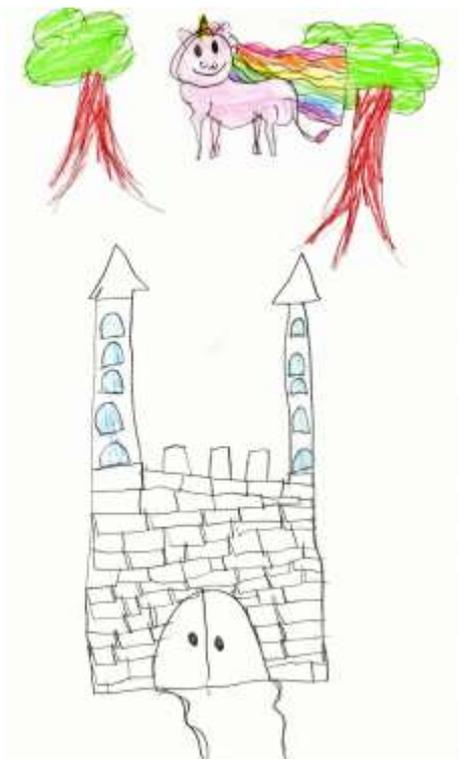

Suddenly, a unicorn called Scoobidy skidded down the rainbow to meet Zoe. They played catch together and danced in the forest. They played golf and basketball.

At dinner time they went to the castle and had chicken nuggets for dinner.

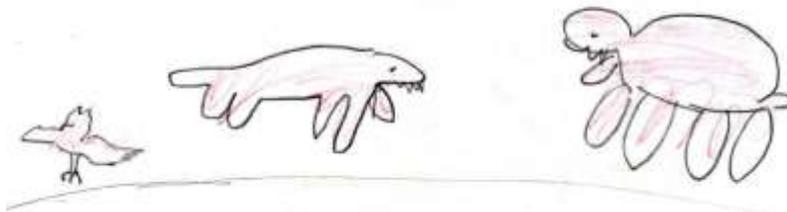

They decided it was time to go to sleep but first they brushed their teeth and then they told each other stories.

Princess Fairy Zoe is not lonely anymore because she has found a friend for life.

The End.

The Chicken and the Fox

Once there was a chicken who lived on a farm. One day he went out of the farm and a fox came along and bit him on the leg and ran off with him.

“Help! Help!” cried the chicken.

Then a man with a stick came and chased them and caught the fox and put it in a bag and threw it in a pond.

The chicken was so pleased he danced and danced and danced until he was tired.

But the fox escaped and he chased and caught the chicken again by his wing and ran off with him.

“Let me go,” said the chicken.

“No,” said the fox.

No-one ever saw either of them again so, no-one knows what happened to the chicken and the fox.

The End.

Ghost Woman

Once upon a time there lived an evil villain called Ghost Woman.

Ghost Woman would steal all the lollipops in the candy store.

But she never stole the milk flavoured lollies or the onion lollies.

One day she also stole all the toys from the toy store

The children were all angry and sad.

When the Ghost Woman was running her bath, the children crept in and put sleepy cream on her toothbrush. When she brushed her teeth, she fell asleep.

While she was asleep all the children took back the toys and the candy.

That night, while the Ghost Woman slept, the children, ate all the candy and played with all the toys.

The End.

The Gingerbread Man

A woman made a Gingerbread Man and put it in the oven. When it was cooked, she opened the oven door and the Gingerbread Man stood up and ran into the garden.

There was a man in the garden and he set off chasing the Gingerbread Man.

The Gingerbread Man ran towards the sea and he saw that the man had almost caught up with him, when a fox appeared.

“Quick,” said the fox, “get up onto my back.”

So, the Gingerbread man climbed onto his back and the fox ran away and the man couldn't catch them.

Then the fox ate the Gingerbread Man.

The End.

Ghostface

On Halloween Ghostface killed people.

Then he went to his house and he set his house on fire.

While people were watching the fire he snuck up on them and killed them too. Somebody saw him and was terrified and called the police.

The police came and arrested Ghostface and put him in a cell. Ghostface picked the lock of his cell and found his way out and the police thought he was smart.

Ghostface built himself a new house and lived in it but he still ran out onto the streets and killed people. He felt happy because he liked killing people. He wore a funny costume and a funny mask.

One day, he drove to his friend's house and asked him to give him a new knife.

"Can I have a new knife please?"

He went back to his house and he watched TV and had a drink.

Then he ran away forever and was never seen again and the people lived happily ever after.

The End.

A Cat and a Butterfly

The Cat and the Butterfly went to the park. They had played there for a long time when the Cat said:

“It’s getting late, we should go home.”

But the Butterfly said:

“But I like it in the park and what are we going to do at home?”

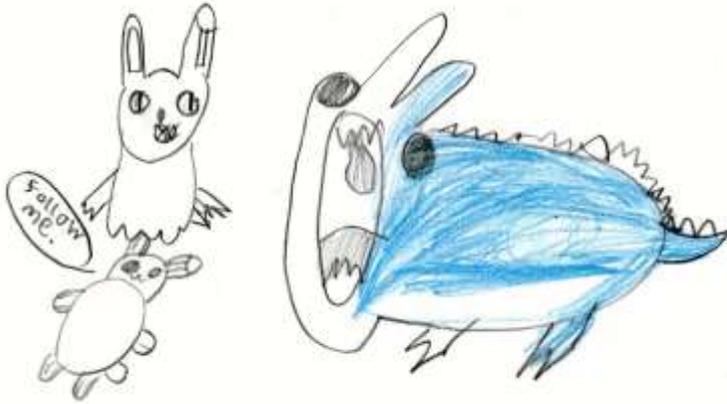

But the cat miaowed:

“Butterfly let’s go home.”

“OK,” said the Butterfly, “it’s getting cold. C’mom.”

The End.

Ghost Bunnies

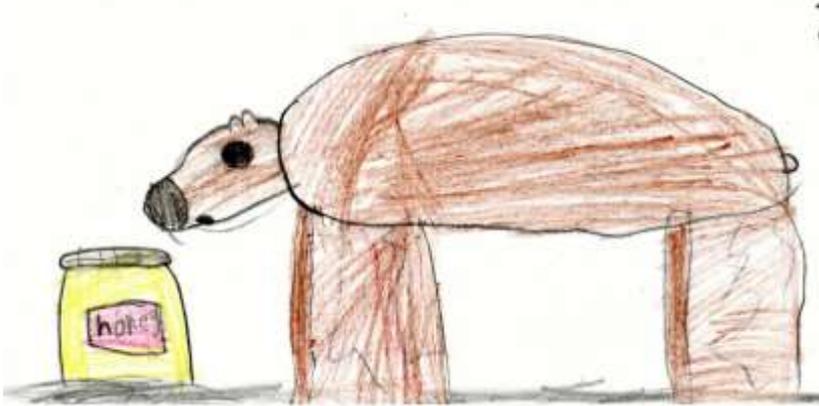

Once there was a Bunny who didn't have any friends. He was so sad.

Then one night he heard a voice but there was nobody in his room.

The next day he discovered whose voice he had heard. It was two Ghost Bunnies. They became his friends and they all lived happily ever after.

The End.

The Honey Bear

Once upon a time there was a scary Honey Bear who wanted to eat humans. But one day he thought he'd like some honey instead.

The honey turned him into a nice bear and he lived happily until...

He left the forest to go to the honey shop again. He bought some honey, but when he walked out of the shop he stepped on a hedgehog and screamed because his paw was full of prickles and he was in pain.

He went back to the shop and bought a bandage and felt much better.

The End.

Tornado Man

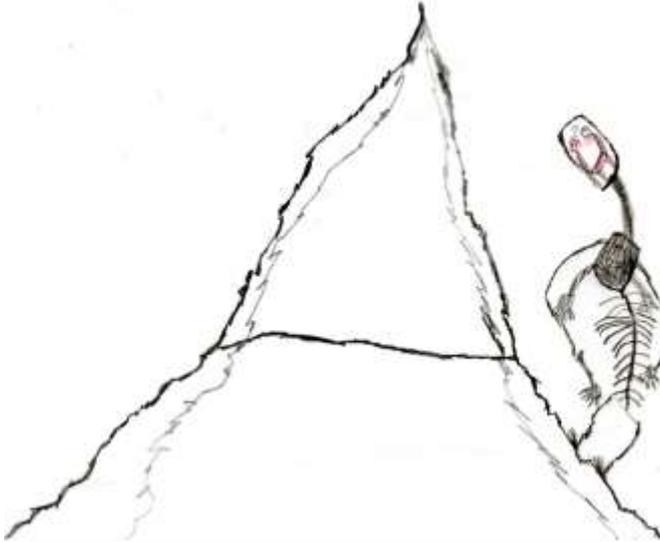

Once upon a time there lived Tornado Man in creepy space. He was surrounded by lots of planets.

Whilst he was in creepy space, he saw the planets Mars and Jupiter.

Seeing the planets made him happy and he was happy that he lived in creepy space as he didn't find it creepy at all.

The End.

Spider Princess

In the big, big city Miles and Spider Princess live with their friends Steve, Super Bunny and Princess Axiotl.

In the city there also lived a bad guy, his name was King Baby Venom. He wanted to destroy the city.

In order to save the city, Spider Princess and her friends all needed to work together to fight and arrest the bad guy.

To be successful they needed to send him to a scary Minecraft cave with metal blocks to keep him in it. In the cave there were creepers, TNT and skeletons.

In the end the city was saved and they all lived happily ever after.

The End.

The Villain and the Superheroes

One day a villain came into the city. He was a monster who wanted to destroy the city and then the whole world.

The city called for all the Superheroes to come and save the.

The Superheroes all showed up.

They fought the villain and they won.

The End.

Daisy and the Puppy

Daisy the hot dog was walking in the street. She stopped a car because she could see that a puppy was under it.

The puppy died. It was so sad.

One day the puppy's mum came and she was crying. The puppy's dad was sad and he was crying too.

But one day the puppy came alive again and the mum and dad were happy.

But then it all happened all over again. But the next time the puppy came alive, it stayed alive and everyone was happy.

The End.

Nibs

Nibs woke up and decided he was desperate for chocolate. It was a sunny day and he had not eaten any chocolate in ages, so it was the perfect time and Nibs was hungry.

He said 'goodbye' to his friends and headed for the little shop on the corner. On his way Nibs imagined how yummy the chocolate would be in his belly but he also realised he had no money...

Nibs was very upset, but he had a plan. A silly plan. His horrible flatmates had stolen all his money so he planned to steal the chocolate. He decided that one day he would also have to find a new place to live.

In the little shop, Nibs saw his chance and stole the chocolate but the witch who owned the shop caught him and turned him into a frog!

Nibs hopped out of the shop and across the road and hopped all the way out of town until he reached a river where he stopped to rest. He looked around and he was sure the witch had not followed him. There was a lovely froggy family near the riverbank.

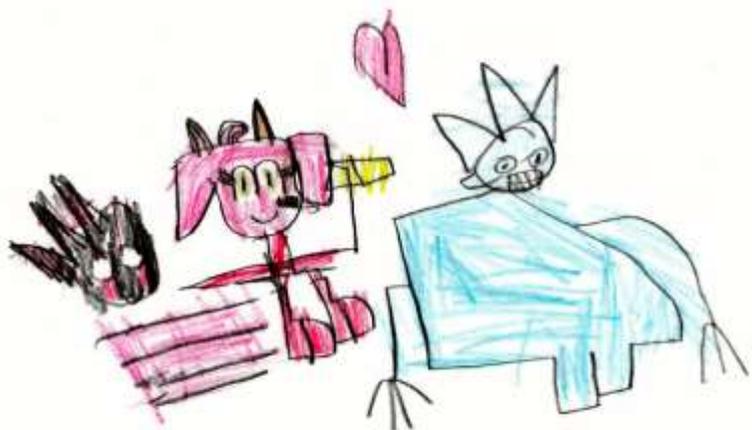

The dad frog asked him if he would like to live with them.

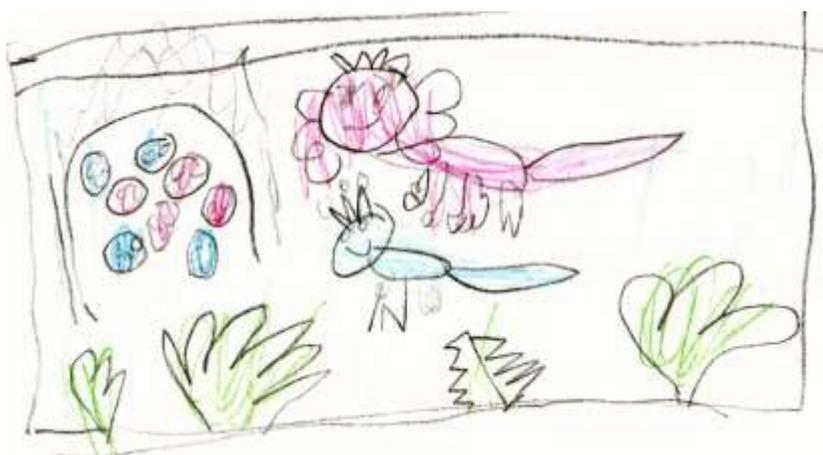

Nibs said, "Yes please," and he was so, so happy in his new home. He promised his new family he would never steal anything again.

The End.

George the Megalodon

George the Megalodon worked in a small bank under the sea. The bank specialised in giving shell loans and seaweed homes to the little creatures that lived on the seabed. Life was pretty sweet for George because he loved his job and liked all the customers like Mrs Plankton and Ozzy the octopus.

George didn't have a home because sharks have to keep swimming to stay alive. But he did like to have a little snooze in the warm currents that swept past the bank in the evenings.

Life was very good indeed until they arrived.....

One grey and stormy morning all of the creatures that lived on the seabed noticed a big boat arrive on the surface. Many of the little creatures got scared and withdrew all their shells and sea money from the bank and moved away. George tried to tell everybody to be calm, but he was also worried because he had heard stories about dangerous humans.

He got even more worried the next day when divers from the boat started to swim to the seabed and drill into the earth. Nobody knew what they were looking for but they left lots of mess and made lots of noise that disrupted all the sea creatures.

Mrs Plankton said that most of her neighbours had moved out and were homeless and drifting across the ocean not knowing what would become of them.

George decided he could not stand by and more. He closed the bank for the afternoon and practised his scariest, toothiest smile. Then he swam really fast towards all of the men who were polluting his lovely sea and grinned his biggest grin at them as he glided past. He didn't know why, but when he smiled at humans, they always got scared and swam away.

The men who were drilling and making a mess saw George the megalodon and dropped all of their machinery and swam as quickly as they could to the surface. They climbed onto their boat and sped away at top speed.

All of the little sea creatures returned home after tidying up the mess the nasty humans had left on the ocean floor. Then Mrs Plankton's neighbours returned. When they went to visit George at the bank, he gave them the biggest smile he had ever smiled.

The bank went back to business as usual, and the sea creatures never saw the silly humans ever again.

The End.

The Magical Puddle

Chapter 1

Yesterday I saw a puddle and I saw lots and lots of rubbish so I decided I would pick it up and put it in the bin. I cut my hand. I had picked up some glass and it was bad; my blood was dripping everywhere. I put some gloves on and started again. I picked up a glass bottle, a plastic bag and a sweetie bag.

It went on for hours and by the time I was done it was my bed time and so I went to sleep. Do you want to know my dream? Well, I'm going to tell you. In my dream, I saw a mean girl and she kept on shrieking at me and I hated it.

Chapter 2.

The next day, I saw the same puddle, So, I put some boots on and jumped in the puddle but it was a portal. I jumped through the portal and I saw a winter land with presents, snow and a Santa hat. I thought it was a really cool dream. But then I pinched myself and I was not in a dream. I can't get out but, at least I have Christmas dinner and that's not bad,

Chapter 3.

I still needed to get out so I could have the best Christmas so I thought and thought. I decided I should stack up the presents and climb up them to get out. But a yeti was guarding the presents. So, I searched the area for a weapon and found a knife in one of the houses. I stabbed the yeti and it died. I stacked up the presents and climbed out of the portal. I was in darkness for a while then I saw a light. I followed the light and found my way back to my house and told my family about my long journey.

The End

Brownie always be Nice.

In Jelly Hill there was a bunny named Brownie and her dream was to be a hero. Where she lived was a calm nice town, but one day it all changed. On the news it said:

‘A bad, bad crime had been done in Jelly Hill.’

“Stay safe, our love to Jelly hill” said the news speaker sadly.

“Ah no more going out, stay in,” screamed Brownie’s mum.

“It’s not that bad Mum,” said Brownie.

Well Brownie's Mum had a point. The next day Brownie went to school and heard a scream. She looked and saw nothing and went back home.

A few months later.

It was Monday and the next day it was Brownie's birthday. She was so excited.

"Ooooh yeah ooooh yeah," sang Brownie.

It was night and her TV blasted of the news:

"Hi Jelly Hill our town is in danger. We have reports that a dead girl has been seen and some rat has been stealing from the bank so once again stay safe."

"Oh no! I need to help," Brownie ran down stairs and went outside. The wind brushed on her face and she saw a rat on a building holding a bag.

"Hey, you stole that from the bank," said Brownie.

"Oh yes I did little bunny," laughed the rat who was called Leming.

"I'm no bunny you see, I....I'm a hero, well I want to be," said Brownie.

Leming looked at Brownie:

"Well, you look small," he laughed.

"I'm here to save Jelly Hill," said Brownie.

"How are you meant to do that?" jeered Leming.

Brownie grabbed her cape and put it on.

"Well, I know how," said Brownie.

Leming started to run to Brownie's house and Brownie ran after him. They jumped and dodged and Brownie finally grabbed him. She brought him to the police.

"Thanks," said the police you are a hero!

Brownie was now the best hero in town but it wasn't over. Jelly Hill was still in danger but people were glad that they had a hero. On the news it said:

"Hi Jelly Hill, today we have good and bad news. I'll start with the bad so we can cheer you up afterwards with the good news. So, the bad news is that we are in danger. We have a new bad guy called teddy and also Leming has ESCAPED!! The good news is that we have a hero in Brownie. We also have a new one, or shall I say ones, their names are Marsh and Mallow. Jelly Hill that is that for today, so goodbye and we love you Jelly Hill," said the news reader.

"I was on the news I...I was on the news yay yay," shouted Brownie.

"Stop shouting please, and what do you want for dinner?" said Brownie mum.

Brownie ignored her and went out. It started to rain as she went to the park and saw Leming.

"Hi," said Brownie.

"Hi I know you, you sent me to jail," said Leming.

"Oooh, I did!!" said Brownie.

"Yeah, so I escaped and I have a new buddy, teddy" said Leming.

“How did you escape and why are you here?” Brownie asked.

“I only escaped to get you and to turn over JELLY HILL,” yelled Leming.

“Not on my watch,” said Brownie.

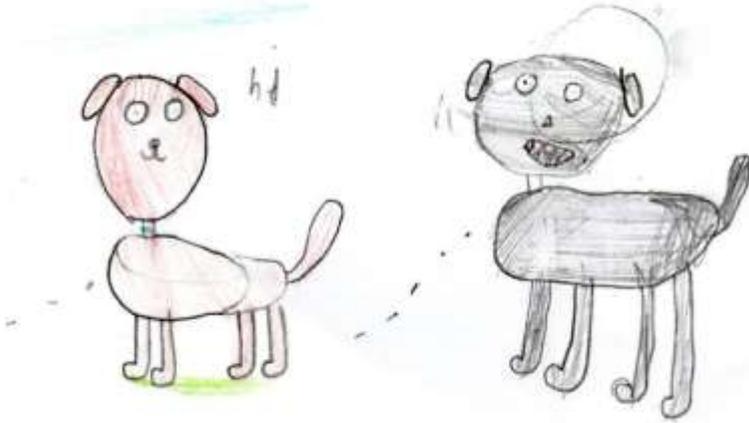

Brownie ran to the police and told them everything.

The police got the bad guys and they went to jail. Brownie laughed.

“It’s all your fault,” cried Teddy.

The End.

Bear the Dog that goes on an Adventure.

Chapter 1

Once upon a time Bear the dog was in his home and he woke up in his bed when there was a knock on the door. So, Bear went down the steps and opened the door but no-one was there so Bear shut the door and sat on the sofa.

Then there was a knock on the door and this time when Bear opened the door, he saw a girl. He asked her what her name was and she said 'Wendy.'

"This is Max May," said Wendy and Bear knew who it really was, it was Bob who he was very suspicious of.

Wendy decided to leave the country and while she on the plane she fell asleep. But she didn't know that Bob was on the plane and he took her eye out.

Chapter 2.

She woke up and she shouted:

“Nooooooo! He’s taken my eye out. I’m telling you people he’s taken my eye out. I’m going to get you Bob, I mean it.”

A couple of days later Bob was asleep in the same spot and Wendy caught sight of him. When Bob woke up his arm was not there...

Chapter 3

Bob thought Wendy had done it but it was not her. Who could it be? Does Bob know if he has any enemies? Yes, he does he has got loads, he has 10 more. He went to see them and asked:

“Did you cut my arm off?”

“No, I was asleep just like you.”

“Oh ok, hang on a minute how did you know I was asleep?” asked Bob.

“Well, if you were not asleep how could someone cut your arm?”

“Oh, now I understand,” said Bob.

Meanwhile Bear was getting very tired of all this unpleasantness, so he decided to get everyone together and make them sort out their differences before anyone else got hurt.

The End.

Henry the Crime Stopping Police Officer

Chapter 1

Henry was a normal guy, but one night while he was sleeping in his bed, his house was robbed. Henry was shocked, so he wanted to be a police officer to get the thief who robbed him.

On the way to the police station to get a job, he saw a crime being committed, he saw the same person who had robbed him so he rushed faster to the police station to get a job.

Chapter 2 – the job

Henry set out to look for the thief but he got hungry so he went to a donut shop. He saw the horrible thief had stolen again from the donut shop, so Henry chased after him but he never caught him.

The next day he went to his friend's house to ask for some tips from Joel because he was also a police officer, but then the thief tried to rob Joel, but Henrey saw the thief before but he stole nearly everything.

The thief dropped a badge that had his name on. His name was Logan. Henrey took it to the police station to tell his boss. Chief Zack told him to give him the badge.

The next day he saw the same person but he wasn't stealing from houses. He was stealing from the Bank so Henry chased after him but he got away. Henry thought Logan would always be a criminal. But Logan just gave up because he didn't like to be evil, so he signed up to be a police officer too.

When Logan got home, he got into bed and fell asleep but Logan was robbed. When he got outside onto the street, he told Henrey, Joel, Zack what had happened so they decided they would help him to find the culprit. But he had escaped and left the country leaving behind everything he had stolen from Logan.

Bunny Saves the Day

Chapter 1

Once upon a time Bun the bunny went to the city where another bunny was in danger. But Bun was a hero bunny and saved the other bunny in the end.

“My challenge is to keep going and never give up on my dreams,” said Bun.

Chapter 2

One day Bun was rescued from being in danger by a new bunny. She went home happy with her new bunny friend.

They both sat talking then her new friend went home.

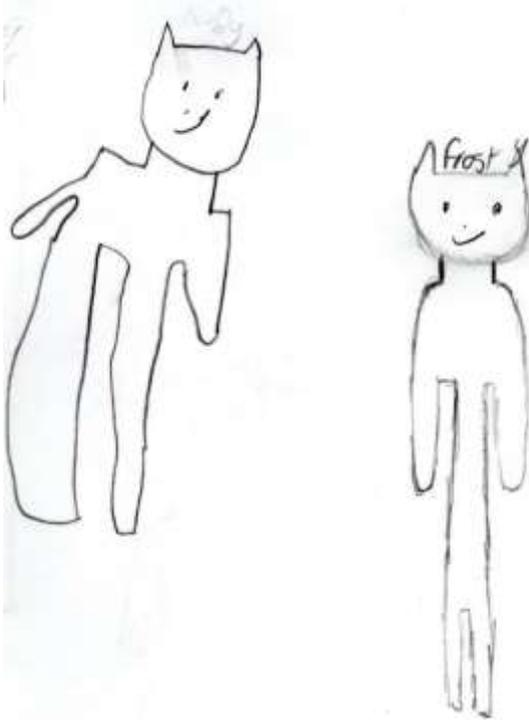

They were sleeping but then Bunny was in danger of being kidnapped. So, Bun went to her friend’s house and frightened away the kidnapper.

Chapter 3.

Next day Bun got home from the shop. She was tired and went to sleep for 9 hours. When she woke up, she went to her friend’s house who thanked her for scaring away the kidnapper.

The End.

Frosty and Josty Travel and Save Frosty's Story

Chapter 1

Hello I'm Frosty and I was the first cat to travel. I was only 2 months old when I first went to the airport to go travelling. It was scary, but it has been 5 years now and ever since I started travelling, I have looked for a friend. Eventually, I found a friend and now we are best friends forever.

Chapter 2

Hi, you might remember me as the first cat who travelled. It has been now 12 years and my friend Josty is now 8 years old. My friend and I go everywhere together as we are daft best friends. We feel as though we are cousins but we both know we are not.

One day, we went to get ice cream. The ice cream was so good it was amazing; we loved it. We went home and my mum Ruby took us to the kitten pool. We splashed around until it was time to go home, and that was my day with my friend.

The End.

Josty's Story

Chapter 1

Hello, I'm Josty and I'm the cat who saved the day. When I was only six years old, I saved a kitten from a car crash. The kitten's owners were very happy that I saved her. They told the newspapers and everybody loved me.

Chapter 2

Hi! Remember me? I'm the cat who saved the day. I thought I was going to be able to save the day for the rest of my life but sadly not. It's now 13 years since I saved the kitten and I'm now too old to carry on saving the day. But I loved it while I could.

The End.

The Pencil that kept being Sharpened.

Chapter 1

Once upon a time there was a pencil it kept being sharpened, and sharpened, and sharpened. It got sharpened too much so that nobody could use it.... One day the pencil was dropped on the floor. Someone accidently stumbled on the pencil and squashed it and we thought that was basically the end.

But wait, suddenly the pencil pieces started coming out of the bin and made a pencil again. It shot up in the air. It could still draw and write but it had also become magical. The pencil wanted to find the sharpener, so the pencil could defeat it so that pencils could live. But the teacher said that he needed the pencils to be sharpened and then be stomped on to make them all magical.

He started off telling the pencils what to do so they didn't get confused. Then he set a trap to get the students to sharpen and stomp on the pencils. He was so confident that he started drawing scribbles and the pencils cheered and celebrated and his plan worked the next day.

Chapter 2 - The Army of Pencils

It worked so they made a trap to get all humans to sharpen and stomp on pencils. This would be hard but an amazing idea. The first human dropped a pencil but didn't stomp on it. The pencils all stomped over and kicked the human, she said "ouch!!"

Then that really helped because she stomped on all of the pencils and they all turned magic in the bin.

After all that drama it was time to kill the sharpener and get on our way – so we found the sharpener and tried to kill it but it was so tough. But we did it. We defeated the sharpener!!! Hooray, hooray hooray hooray that is the story of the pencil that kept being sharpened.

The End.

Mind Mover

Once upon a time there was a girl named Sara. She was proper sassy and one day she found out that she could use her mind to move things. Then Sara found she could swap to being a cat and not a human. A cat has 9 lives so she has lots too.

The next day she started to travel. Sadly, a fellow traveller died. Sara tried doing compressions to save them and then used her mind control. So, she saved the person with her mind control.

The End.

Swift gets Swapped

Once upon a time there was a singer called Taylor Swift and she awoke feeling excited and happy because it was the day of the Eras tour. She got out of bed and got her clothes ready, but not just any clothes, designer clothes that cost thousands of pounds. But something was wrong, her clothes were missing:

‘Where could they be?’ she wondered.

She checked everywhere even outside. She saw a trail of petals so she followed them and they led to a shocking purple wardrobe. She went inside and the lights went out and someone locked the door. It was the fake Taylor Swift. The real Taylor Swift tried everything to get out but the door wouldn't budge. Then she realised that it was time for the show and fake Taylor Swift would be wearing her clothes.

She panicked for a minute but remembered that the fake Taylor Swift was about to go on stage. So, with all her strength she pushed the door and after a few tries the door opened. She rushed to the venue and took the stage she showed everyone the footage of the fake locking her in the room.

Everyone believed the real Taylor Swift and she got changed and started the concert. Taylor sang songs from her albums. The albums were Folklore, Life of a Showgirl, Evermore, Reputation, Red and 1989. The crowd loved it; they were singing and dancing and swaying. After the concert she chased down the fake Taylor Swift to her house, bashed the door down and battled her till she got all her clothes back. Then they became friends and the fake promised not to do it again. So, then they did everything together.

The End.

The Disappearing Devil

Chapter 1

Years ago, when Sally was born her parents knew she would be a devil. At night she would sneak to the same haunted house. But one day, she went to nursery but her parent were so angry. They yelled:

“Don’t tell me you killed someone.”

“Yes, aren’t you proud of me?” she asked

“No, who did you kill?” they said.

“One of the teachers,” she replied.

Chapter 2

Sally’s mum said: “you are going to a new school.”

But when it was lunch, she accidentally killed somebody. She dropped the knife and her friend fell. Her friend died. She went to prison. She regretted it. But after a few years she finally got let out.

Chapter 3: The Horror Doll

Now Sally was 19. She had been kicked out of her house, school and college because she kept hurting people and she couldn’t stay there. She had black long hair and she always wore a dress.

She tried to hide her identity and she always wore her old dress because she couldn’t go in any shops because she was wanted and kept killing. She always kept her knife with her. She hadn’t eaten in days and she was starving. One day she went to get somebody and she got arrested.

Chapter 4

But one day she was so sick of being in prison. She took the chance to escape when the guard went. She ran excitedly, but then she found her knife she started walking around the street.

Then she heard police sirens and she had to act quickly so she wouldn’t get caught. They were coming her way so she ran behind a bin. She still got caught so she went back to prison. Then they let her out and she was so happy and danced around the street and when she got older, she became a teacher and taught kids to not do the same thing as her. When she told the class a joke and they all laughed. It was why didn't the toilet cross the road because it got stuck in a crack.

Chapter 5

Then Sally was kind and had a lot of friends. She saw a poster for a club that had a wood breaking competition. She entered, she practiced and when it was the competition she WON.

Chapter 6

A few days ago, Sally got a call from her mum who said Sally could go back and live with her. But Sally's job was so successful that Sally got her own house. She turned down the offer. Then Sally got pregnant, but she didn't realise she had. But when her waters broke, she was really happy and she gave birth to a little girl. Sally then taught her daughter to not do the same things as her. And when Sally's daughter got older, she became a doctor and lived happily ever after.

Ted the Dog saves the Day

Chapter 1: The Kidnap.

Hello, I'm Ted. The other day my owner was kidnapped.

'It is up to me to save my owner, will I succeed?' I wondered.

To get my owner back I must jump across magical clouds that took him to a magical land. There lay my owner, all tied up. Luckily, I could free her, and we flew across back to Portugal. I was overjoyed. Kidnapping never pays off.

Chapter 2: The Robbery

Hello. Today I woke up and I found a robber trying to break in. This all happened at midnight. I barked and barked but my owner did not hear. I zoomed up the stairs and rushed into my owner's room. I barked and barked and barked. She finally awoke and called 999. You can't get away with a robbery.

Chapter 3: Dog facts

1 Dog years go up in 7s

2 There are hundreds of dog breeds

3 All dog breeds are different sizes

4 Even if dogs are the same breed they can be different colours

5 Dogs have 100 x better hearing and sense of smell than us

Hope you enjoyed my story.

The End.

The Fire goes Out

Chapter 1: Crimes Everywhere

10 months ago, there was a crash near our hero, Deisin. He breathed in smoke it didn't have a bad impact on him; it gave him smoke power.

Present Day.

"There are crimes happening everywhere, I'd better go and save that person," he whispered to himself.

So, he flew to the crime:

"Stop killing people," he ordered.

"Never," cried the criminal.

So, he shot him with the smoke.

Chapter 2: Back Story

Okay first let me tell you of when Deisin was a boy. His parents were in a plane crash and did pass away but he still had his brother and grandma.

Chapter 3: The Tough Part

Deisin found a giant lair and he spotted someone. That someone had a minigun. Deisin shot him with a big smoke bomb and pinned him to the floor instead of killing him.

The End.

Blackwater

Chapter 1

One day a group of people called Arthur, John, Dirth, Bill, Nora, Jenny and Dave rode into a country called Blackwater. They had caused enough trouble in their home town so they came there. They came into the bank, knocked the guard down and stole the money.

A detective agency (Pinkertons) was called in. It was raining. Then a friend of theirs called Mel was injured, Davey and Jenny died. The rest of the gang ran off, leaving the money (a total of $500,000).

Chapter 2

They were wild, and they decided to pick a new gang member called Sadie. Her husband Jake had been killed and they had information from a lad about how it had happened.

So, they attacked a camp and found dynamite but were badly injured. They rode a trail and arrived in New Hanover where there was a town called Valentine. They forded a river and then Arthur shouted:

“I broke the god dang wheel!”

The gang fixed the wheel and set up camp.

Arthur joked with Pearson the cook saying:

“If you’re food don’t kill us, Pinkerton will.”

A few days later they headed off and captured a man called O’Driscoll. They held him hostage until he told them to go to Columbia and they found $20,000. They decided to make O’Driscoll a member of their gang.

One day Arthur took a Jack, a child from their group, fishing and they encountered a man from the Pinkerton agency. This caused them some bother so they headed to Rhoder in Lemoyne.

Chapter 3: Lemoyne camp

Jack asked Arthur if they could go fishing and he agreed and they caught four fish. But they encountered a new rival gang, the Lemoyne Raiders. They got in trouble with them and the raiders kidnapped Jack and they hid him in their mansion. They broke into the mansion but they couldn’t find Jack so they went looking for him in Saint Denis.

Chapter 4

They rescued Jack and they robbed a bank and boarded ship to escape with the money. But the ship sank and they were washed up on the shore of a tropical island.

Chapter 5

They were captured by police and taken to the governor of the island. They broke free, but a gang member called Xavier was caught. They got him back and stole a boat back to America.

Chapter 6: The Fall

The group thought someone called O'Shea was a rat so they killed her. But this caused the gang to fall apart. Soon John and Arthur were together when someone from the Pinkerton agency showed up. They ran off with Arthur following John.

In 1914 Pinkerton caught up with John and killed him. The surviving members of the gang went abroad to start a new life.

The End.

The Wonderful Angel

In the year 1899 the Ban Ban was the hero, and Ban Bad was his sister's name, she was not a hero because his sister was evil.

At the beginning of the story, everyone else in the family was evil. Ban Ban's sister, brother, mum and dad were all evil.

One day there was threat to the world from all the evil. Ban Ban saved his mum, dad and brother. They stopped being evil.

So, Ban Ban went on an adventure with his sister and his sister stopped being evil. His sister went to bed and Ban Ban became evil and tried to kill her.

Ban Ban's sister became a hero.

The End.

Bear goes Bad

It was Halloween, and Ian and his little sister Molly were just finishing their trick or treat sweets.

“Ok time for bed you two,” shouted their mum.

Ian trudged up the ancient creaky stairs and put on a pair off green and blue pj’s and brushed his shoulder length red hair. He slumped on his cloud-like bed, said good night to his well-loved and battered bear Bish and turned off his bright lamp. That was when Bish opened his eye...

Sneakily Bish jumped of the shelf and landed on the carpet with a soft thud. He trashed the entire room. He tipped the trash all over the floor, ripped pages out of books, destroyed toys by decapitating them all whilst falling apart himself. All of a sudden, Ian rapidly sat up in bed like he had a nightmare. He looked at Bish and rubbed his eyes in disbelief over and over again.

“Am I dreaming? This can’t be possible!” screamed Ian.

In a flash Ian’s mom swung the door open with all her strength:

“Why is your room a complete mess!!” she screamed.

“It was Bish,” Ian stuttered.

Whilst Ian and his mum were arguing Bish sat down on the shelf.

“Bish is on the shelf though,” Mum said.

Then Ian turned to see Bish not moving a muscle on the hard sturdy shelf.

The End.

One Last Adventure

Chapter 1: A nightmare begins

One day Technoblade was walking through the forest to build a tree house. As he finished building the tree house and went to bed he heard a moaning sound.

“What was that horrid sound?” he said, “I will go with Jaxon and we will investigate in the morning.”

Chapter 2

In the morning, he went to Jaxon’s house and brought some food and water and they set off on an adventure. They started at the treehouse. By the time they got there it was pitch black and they couldn't see anything so they went to sleep. In the morning, they set off in 10 minutes.

Chapter 3 – Here comes the Cookie Monster

They got some nets and set a trap. In the trap they caught the cookie monster and let him go. They tried again but all they caught was the COOKIE MONSTER again.

Jaxon said:

“I don't think we'll catch anything else today. Let's try tomorrow.”

So, they climbed back into the treehouse and went to sleep.

Chapter 4: The Catch

In the morning, they got up early and set another trap and waited for an hour. Suddenly they caught something. It was a Monster Gingerbread Man. They let him go and asked him what he was doing, he said:

“I am looking for my brother.”

This time we asked him what his name was.

“My name is Louis,” he said.

Chapter 5: The Deer

We set off on a search for Louis' brother. We found a human-like like deer. We ran after it but it was too fast for us. But Louis could go faster than us, he could catch the deer. We found out that the deer was running from the monster and that the moaning sound we had heard was the deer. Then we heard the monster roaring and we had to run to avoid it. When we were safe, we asked the deer his name.

“My name is Cial,” he said.

Chapter 6: Jax

As we were walking through the forest Cial ran off. We found him. He had his brother but was being chased by the devil. So, after that we got a gun and shot it. It didn't die as it was almost immortal. But Louis knew he could chase and contain it.

The Devil screamed as loud as he could, no-one helped him.

The End.

Boy Called Scream

Once upon a time I was driving through a graveyard when I heard a loud scream coming from a cabin. It was raining heavily and a bolt of lightning came from a gravestone. A hand came out of a grave. It was unconscious and covered in cuts and blood. Another scream came from underground, and another. A hand dragged me under. I was tied to a chair!!! A mysterious man in a mask and a black suit was screaming.

Suddenly I heard a cry: "SOS!". The boy called Scream burst open the door. Smoke filled the cabin as the electric door opened. The room was on fire. I jumped out of the window quickly. As fast as I could I grabbed onto the roof and climbed up.

But sadly, a mysterious man in a mask was waiting for me. He pushed me off!!!

Then the man fell off the roof and the police caught him and they caught the boy called Scream.

I could go home as the boy called Scream had been defeated. Then I heard that Scream had broken out!!!! And no-one is safe until he is caught again.

The End.

The Adventures of Myths

Chapter 1

Few years ago in 1874, there was a boy who was lonely. He had heard a story about myths and dragons and also the Slayer - a powerful sword that slays people. When he woke, he started his adventure that went through the village, mountains and portals.

So, he had his to start his adventure and find a dragon. But they were myths and he was terrified and so he attacked with a power like a metal claw and a storm wind. He saw a dragon and caught him. He petted it and it became his dragon.

So, you must be thinking was that his adventure?

Chapter 2

After getting his dragon he needed food, water, a tent and loads of things to help him survive. He had an idea. This was to find a village and get the stuff he needed.

He asked someone:

“Is there water, food, tent, coal?” and, guess what? he got all that he needed. So, he built his tent, cooked some food and fed his dragon. The he decided to go on one more adventure, but he needed the key to get through the portal.

The key was in the scary forest. He saw wolves. Three big, tough wolves. So, he fought them with his dragon but his dragon got scared. He battled with all his powers and the wolves died.

Chapter 3

So, he came back to the forest to repair everything damaged in the battle. He got his sword, food, magic book, his dragon. and the key. He opened the portal. But he remembered his sister, she was 5 she had a dragon too. He was 11. He went to his house to get his sister Ella. He said:

“Let’s go on an adventure.”

She agreed, so they entered the portal.

Chapter 4

So, they entered the portal to a mythic mountain and were given a mission to kill 300 demons, battle the demon king, get the crystal for their parents. To do this they trained in a training academy for 7 years, yeah that’s all!

So, he was going to battle a demon king. King vs dragon and his sister Ella's dragon. They battled, battled and lost and ran away to the portal.

They were scared, so he trained in the academy to be stronger after spending time at home. Ella stayed at home. He ate fried chicken, burger, drink and, after sleeping for 4 hours at night suddenly a letter came.

It read: "Dear Jamie do you want to join a dragon league?" So, he signed it.

Chapter 5

The next morning, he went to the academy. He was in the first round in the league and his first fight was against a monster called Roy. He slayed it with all his powers and won so he's still in the league.

Chapter 6

He was so happy he danced then he ate some fish and slept. Then he went to the demon world and found 300 demons. He killed 100 in 5 days and he was tired. He saw something was on the floor. It was a voltage, a mega voltage. It was what makes dragons powerful?

Chapter 7

In the morning, he decided to go on one last adventure to find his parents. He found them.

The End

The Boy with the Magical Football

One morning I went to ask my best friend if he wanted to play football.

“Do you want to play?” I asked.

He did. So, we went outside and we played for about an hour and then the ground shook and it split between me and my friend. My friend fell into the split and I turned into Footballman and my friend turned into Bananaman.

What had happened? What should we do? We made a plan.

We started to save the planet and we were surprisingly good at that job.

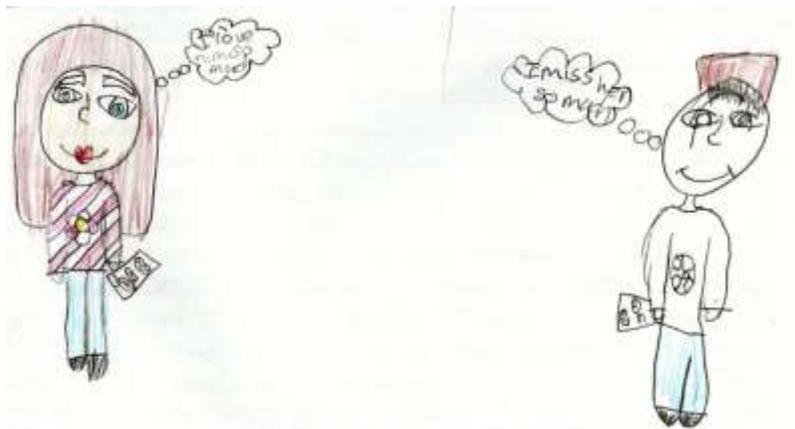

A few years later.

One evening Bananaman and Footballman had to fight something that was greater than all their abilities to defeat it. So, they had to find another way to kill the beast.

The created a weapon that could nuke it.

The End.

Enemies to Lovers

Chapter 1

Hi I am Jennie and this is my story. So, one day a new boy came to my school and instantly we became enemies, we tried to bug each other a lot. When he came to this school we just didn't get along and now we hate each other! Anywhere I see him I try to make him angry; we can't stand each other.

The reason why I hate him is long. When he first came to the school he just kept being so annoying and rude to my friends and me, so I had to get revenge.

Chapter 2

One day I did something so bad to him that he snapped. I tried to steal something from his locker but he caught me just in time and he was Angry! He nearly strangled me to death but the teacher saw what was happening:

“You both need to get along, if you don’t, I will kick you out of this school!” the teacher said with an angry voice.

After she said that I ran to the class before he could strangle me again. Now I had to face a big challenge: trying to get along with him! It was going to be hard but as I spent more time with him I kinda started to have feelings for him. He wasn’t as bad as I thought he was, he was very cute and kind, he was caring too.

Chapter 3

Hi I am Jennie, as you know the teacher said we had to get along but I was starting to care for him a lot. So, one day, I walked up to him and said:

“I like you a lot. We have been enemies since you came to this school but I was wrong about you. You are kind, loving and caring.”

To my surprise he liked me too so we became a thing. We were like loverbies and enemies too; it was very funny to say but we were loverbies.

Chapter 4

Everyone was confused about our relationship; it wasn’t really a full love relationship. It was more of a friendship than a relationship but I was okay with that. When summer came, we would go on trips and adventures together.

Chapter 5

Finally, it was summer break, I was so excited. On the first day of summer, we went to the waterpark and the next week we went to France and ate so much stuff like croissants. It was fun spending time with him.

Chapter 6

Hi again, as you all know this new boy came to my school and we became enemies but I want to announce that we are now lovers, so we are like partners in crime and we have each other's back. The thing I love about him is he has green eyes and green eyes are rare, he loves soccer and he is so sweet and kind.

Chapter 7

But our relationship needs to improve. We need to spend more time with each other because he is always spending time with his mates, and I am spending too much time with my best friends so that is one thing we need to improve on.

The next thing we need to improve on is arguments. We are always fighting. We are fight about whether pineapple belongs on a pizza. He always says it does not but I disagree with him because pineapple does belong on pizza, pineapple is the best on pizza.

After, we need to improve on talking in public because nobody knows that we're lovers and we shout mean things so people don't get suspicious. Oh, I am sorry I didn't say his name his name is James. Our names start with the same letter - James and Jennie. It's the best match. Imagine finding your soulmate's name starts with the same letter that would be crazy. Are you dating someone that was your enemy? Anyway, lets got back to the story then, shall we?

So, we need to improve on going out with each other because all we do is texts and face time each other and every time I say: “can we go out?” he is like “what if one of my friends or one of your friends spots us together and then tells everyone in the school?”

If we want to have a future, we’re going to need to work really hard to resolve all of these issues.

The End.

The Getaway Crime

Once upon a time Tom and Diddie woke up from a nightmare of being chased by the Devil and police.

Chapter 1

Tom and Diddie teamed up for missions as they had already started to plan. Tom and Diddie did their first mission but then they got a call from the police.

Chapter 2: The Chase

Tom and Diddie were being chased by the devil and the police. They ran away from the police and the Devil. They went to Diddie's hotel and then the police and the Devil started to bang on the door. Tom and Diddie jumped out the window

Chapter 3: The Revenge

Tom and Diddie thought of some way to get revenge on the police and Devil. Then Diddie got pepper spray and sprayed them and their car. It turns out their nightmare was true in the end. As the police chased them and they went to jail.

The End.

Tung Tung the Stick and his Army

Many years ago, Tung Tung the stick had an army who he needed to hide from the police. Because they robbed a bank and he was rich, but the police were after him. Eventually they all found a tree house in a rich person's garden. So, they hopped a fence to get into the person's garden to hide from the police.

The stick is brown and mossy. In his army there was a blue shark with blue sneakers and a green little tree that was already mossy and an elephant made out of strawberries and a dating app which becomes unusable and an owl who loves blueberries.

Then they got caught and when they were released from jail they said:

“We need to grow, so let’s stop crime instead of committing it”.

“Look someone is robbing a bank, let’s go. Time to call the police.”

“No, lets catch them ourselves.”

“Good idea.”

“Stop.”

“Why?”

“We need to approach them but one of us should stay here and call the police when we grab them.

“Okay, let’s go now this will be great.”

“I know come on man they’re getting away.”

“Quickly get in the car”

“We need gas,” said the bad guys, “drive to the gas station.”

As the bad guys drove to the gas station, Tung Tung and his army caught up with them.

“Let’s go!”

The bad guys tried to hurry but it was hopeless.

“Grab them!” shouted Tung Tung.

That was their first successful job helping the police.

The End.

Undercover Kidnapper

So about two weeks ago there was a kid who was kidnapped. He was getting candy when it happened.

The kidnappers haven't been caught yet. The cops are still looking for them.

One of the kidnappers is really an undercover cop. Their best hope is that he will manage to arrest the kidnappers and free the kid.

The End.

Demons versus Angels, right?

Chapter 1

The day started as normal. Waking up, getting ready for God's orders. I am envied as an Angel because it is fun to carry out God's orders. You might think it's boring but it's really fun.

Chapter 2

I woke up to screams, so I whipped them to make them scream some more. I know, you might say that is very mean but this is hell and I am Satan so I do what I want. I'll tell you a secret, I have a list of all the bad things people have done.

Chapter 3

I am God, I am literally God. I give angels orders and I make sure that Satan doesn't go insane and make sure that they keep the giant happy.

Chapter 4

Suddenly Satan was worried.

"Help, please can an angel help me? I need help," he called.

"What do you need help with?" asked an angel surprised to be called by Satan.

"I need help with the giant, he's angry."

"Why is he angry?"

"Because me and my friend accidentally ate his dad's birthday cake."

"What! How do you accidentally eat a cake?"

"I don't know but we need to tell God and tell him we need the angels to help."

The angels told God and God sent an angel to intervene and calm the giant down.

Now Satan doesn't like doing kind things, but the angel made him make a new cake for the giant's dad.

The End.

The Horse and the Dog

The horse and the dog trotted down the overwhelmingly busy street. They were on their way to cheer people up who were feeling lonely and sad. All they wanted to do was make everyone happy.

When they arrived at their destination, they spotted a girl who was in despair. The girl was sad because she didn't have any friends.

Horse and dog came up to her. They said:

“Come with us and we'll help you to find a friend.”

So off they went with the girl to find her a friend. She rode on horse's back.

While they were busy looking for a friend it started to get dark and they were worried that they wouldn't have enough time to find a friend that day. So, they decided that, as it was getting so dark they could barely see anything, they would find a friend for the girl the next day.

The next day horse and dog went back to the girl and went with her to search the street for the perfect person to be her friend.

While they were looking, they came across another girl who was upset.

Horse and dog asked her what was wrong.

"I don't have any friends to play with," she simply said.

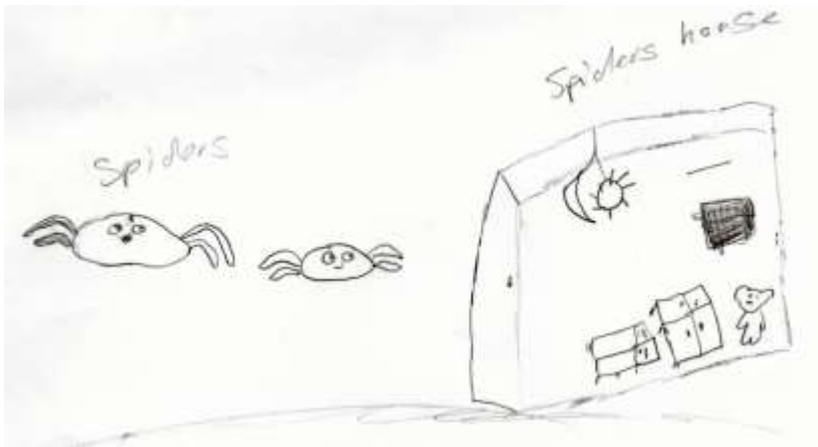

Then horse and dog said to the girls:

"You can both be friends."

The two girls agreed and now they both have a friend to play with.

The End.

The Spider that Loves Sleep

Once upon a time there were two little spiders. One found a little cottage with a hole in the wall. So, the first little spider went to tell the other spider about it and they climbed quickly up the pipe to the hole.

Afterwards they found out that their small furniture fitted in the hole just perfectly.

Suddenly, they heard a person's voice and they looked out and....

Dah! Dah! Dah!

It was a giant human.

All the spiders told their daughters not to look out of the hole. The spiders were worried that they would get squished.

After a few days when nothing bad had happened, the spiders peeped out of their hole and saw the humans, one was called Penny and the other was her mother. They soon realised that they were kind and caring.

They soon became friends with them and they all danced to music and the humans helped to decorate the spiders' room.

The next morning the spiders were waiting for the humans but they didn't come. The spiders went upstairs to find them but they weren't there.

The humans had just been to the shop and, when they got back, they couldn't find the spiders. They went upstairs and the spiders were asleep in their bed.

They accidentally woke them up.

"Ahh," squeaked the spiders, "you've ruined our beauty sleep."

The first little spider loved sleep so much that she wouldn't budge from the humans' bed.

"Can I have my bed back, please?" asked Penny.

The spider thought for few minutes.

"How about, NO!" she said.

Penny went into the guest bedroom and fell into the bed and fell asleep.

"Well, I guess I might as well go back to sleep," said the spider.

Never wake a spider up from its beauty sleep.

The End.

Griffin and Phoenix

Chapter 1

The dawn had risen and up in the clouds Phoenix roamed and Griffins screeched and flew.

One day, everything changed when humans came and saw them. They had a fight and the humans won (they thought the Phoenix would win if it hadn't been winter). The fight had lasted a whole year and Amile, who found the two survivors, one Phoenix and one Griffin, decided to keep them and that is how the adventure began.

One day Amile got sick so she handed the Phoenix and the Griffin to her mother. But little did she know that her Mum hated them. She told them to go and leave humanity alone. Phoenix and Griffin decided to fly away and look for cows.

When they found one, Phoenix tried to fire his fireball at it but missed and it shot a tree. The tree caught fire but Griffin used his water spirit to put out the fire.

After a while they got some meat from an old meat store. For a while that was all food they could find. Then they went scavenging for berries as they wanted to taste more flavours. After a while they had gathered a whole bucket of blueberries.

They decided to split up and search for more food separately. But while Phoenix was out hunting, he stepped on a bear trap...

Chapter 2

Phoenix panicked and screeched but he felt as though his fate was sealed. A hunter appeared. Phoenix felt even more panic.

Suddenly a vulture appeared and he blew at the hunter and swooped down and the hunter backed away.

Phoenix and the vulture decided to team up and they went off together to find Griffin.

They all stayed friends and helped each other look for food and protected each other ever after.

The End.

The Cats, the Rabbit and the Puppy

Chapter 1

The day was bad and rainy, but the two cats were so fluffy just like hamsters.

That night the dog was growling at the shining, gleaming moon.

The dragon was angry and breathing fire through his nose. He was angry because someone had eaten his tea.

He knew who had eaten it, it was a black cat, a white cat, a rabbit and a puppy.

He was also cross because they had made a mess.

“Who made this mess?” he roared, “now I have to clean it up and then I must go straight to bed because I have work tomorrow.”

The End.

hunched. He lived in a small house on a plateau by a lake all on his own.

Everything carried on the same until one day Romahu caught a glimpse of blue as a bird flew by. He quietly followed it and there on a branch was the most beautiful bird he had ever seen.

Forgetting to be grumpy he ran to tell everyone about it and they quietly followed him to see the first Kingfisher.

After that, Romahu was put in charge of looking out for new birds and he became respected by the rest of the people.

The End.

The Stick Man

One day some people went to Spain for a holiday. On the news they heard that a villain was in the world somewhere, but no-one knew where.

Then they heard some people screaming in pain and then the screaming suddenly stopped. A woman went to go and check outside and she saw that some people had been crushed to death and that people were running away from someone, this made her blood run cold.

After watching for a few seconds, she started running back to be with people when she heard someone shouting:

“Don’t worry guys, I can save you!”

Everyone started running towards the shouting and everyone was saved including her.

The man who had been shouting was the Stick Man and he moved everyone out of the way of the villain just as the villain appeared out of some smoke.

The Stick man charged at the villain who was called Millie. They fought, but it was hard to see what was going on because there was more and more smoke.

When the smoke cleared, they saw something that made them very happy. The villain was unconscious and the Stick Man was still alive standing there like the real hero that he was.

Stickman and the people went away but the villain regained consciousness and charged at Stick Man from behind and killed him and some of the people.

But another Superhero came and saved the day by saving everyone in all the buildings including shops, houses and flats by charging at the villain and making sure that this time he was dead.

The End.

Mrs Exercise

Messes Exercise

Mrs Exercise woke up. She was in a mess because she is late going for her exercise.

“Oh no!” she cried, “I’m running late. But I can still go, Hooray!”

She got changed and then she said:

“Let’s go!”

She ran around the park, then she went swimming and then she got bored.

So, she went to school for once and now she’s smart.

Now she knows that she must always exercise and always go to school.

The End.

The Little Pigs

Deep within a forest in a brick house four pigs lived. Their names were Eenie, Meeny, Miny and Moe.

It had been months since they had seen the big bad wolf. So, they decided to go out for the day.

But little did they know that a young male wolf had overheard their conversation and knew their plans.

The little pigs were trying to set up a picnic but they were very hungry so they decided to go back and eat in the brick house.

They managed to get into the house without the wolf seeing them because it was now night time and the house was camouflaged in black.

The wolf was very cross so he decided that his next mission would be to break into a bank. He didn't know that banks don't have food in them.

The End.

The House of Monsters

There once was a big house in the forest and in that house, a long time ago, there lived a girl.

One night she disappeared and no-one knew why she had disappeared the teacher told her class.

Then two girls called Emmy and Maya and their pet wolf called Stella decided to go to that house to see if they could find out what had happened to the girl.

When they were in the house the door suddenly closed behind them and then something appeared before them in the dark. It had 6 eyes and long sharp teeth that were purple.

Then the light came on and they thought they should run as fast as they could but they didn't want to risk leaving the little girl behind.

Then a monster suddenly said:

“She's only asleep.”

They were very surprised that the monster could talk and sounded quite nice.

Then the little girl woke up and came down the stairs. She said:

“The monsters are all good.”

Then the monsters, the girls and the wolf all played together and the girls found out that the monsters only had purple teeth because they'd been eating blueberries.

The End.

The Ghost House

On the night before Christmas three little kids were lost in the woods. It was dark and scary and one little boy said:

“I don’t like it here.”

After a little while a girl said excitedly:

“Look there’s the haunted house, let’s go inside.”

They went inside holding hands for safety.

Then the little boy said:

“Ahh! It’s a ghost. RUN!”

But the ghost said:

“Don’t worry, we are friendly.”

“Really?” said the little boy nervously.

“Yes, we are,” said the Ghost.

“How many of you are there,” asked the boy as, out of nowhere four more ghosts appeared.

“This is my family,” the first ghost said, “please come and meet them. This is Mr Donate and Mr Mine. This is Mr French Fries and Mrs Chicken Nuggets.”

But the ghosts were lying and they were really villains.

The police arrived and Mr French Fries and Mrs Chicken Nuggets went to jail for four years for trying to rob a bank.

After they came out of jail the little kids went to see what the ghosts were doing. They were living happily together as they had learnt not to try to rob banks.

So, everyone hopes that’s the end of them being villains.

The End.

The Abandoned Mirror

Chapter 1

Once on Halloween night, Isabella was going trick or treating and she took a short cut through the woods.

Suddenly, she came across a house in the woods and she decided to go and knock on the door. As soon as she knocked, she realised there was no point as they'd probably be out for Halloween, but...

As she turned away the door creaked and she turned back and saw a cracked mirror that hadn't been there before. She decided she should check if her wig was still on.

As she went towards it, she saw the reflection of someone behind her. She screamed as loudly as she could and her friend heard her and came to see what was wrong but she was nowhere to be seen.

Her friend thought it was a prank and went inside the house to find her. She started looking in the attic and found her friend lying dead on the floor. She fainted and fell down the ladder to the attic and neither of them were ever seen again.

Chapter 2

A year went by and three boys decided they didn't believe the rumours about what had happened to the girls and they decided to go to the exact same house on the exact same date. The door was shut.

Joseph, James and Felix had to think about how they could open the door. They tried knocking but no-one answered but a few minutes later, just as they were going to give up and walk away the door creaked open and they saw the cracked mirror.

Joseph said:

“Don't look in the mirror.”

James didn't listen and looked in the mirror and the next moment they were all running for their lives.

“Why did you look in the mirror?” shouted Felix.

“I don't know,” James shouted back as they ran.

Just then a smiling woman appeared and caught James and they both disappeared leaving Joseph and Felix alone. They decided they should go back to the house and search for James.

They searched downstairs and found a mysterious book. They decided to read the first page, but as they opened the book a secret base appeared and they saw James was in it.

The grabbed James and went to run out of the door but it slammed shut. They ran up to the attic and there found Isabella and her friend.

As Felix climbed into the attic something grabbed Joseph and took him away although he screamed as loudly as he could.

Felix turned around but Joseph was nowhere to be seen. Felix was so scared he jumped out of the window and ran away to safety but Joseph and James didn't make it out.

Chapter 3

A few months went by and Felix was missing his friends so much he decided to see if they were still in the house.

He went in and found his friends in the secret base.

"Is the woman in there?" he whispered.

His friends shook their heads so he stepped in and untied his friends.

"Follow me," he said.

But as they got to the door it slammed shut again. They were scared when they heard a voice saying:

"Trust me, go and hide in the attic."

They had just got into the attic and closed its door when the front door opened. It was the lady. She opened the door of the secret base and saw that they were gone. She ran upstairs.

“Don’t jump out of the window,” said Isabella.

But James didn’t listen and jumped. The lady’s friend was outside and grabbed James and took him away and Felix and Joseph could only watch fearfully.

“Now you can jump,” whispered Isabella.

They both jumped and ran into the forest to find their friend James.

“Where are you, James?” they called and James came crawling towards them.

They all survived and went to the hospital and told their story.

The End.

The Mystery House

One day when I woke up, I saw a floating island. Suddenly I was pulled inside it and a door was locked behind me.

Then I heard a weird screeching coming from beneath me. I saw a hatch down into a basement but it was locked.

Soon I found a note that read:

‘Cross my heart and hope to die, look at the dark side of the room.’

I looked and found a key. I tried it on the door to the basement and it worked.

I looked down and saw a cat, but there was a twist. The cat was with a creepy Skinwalker which jumped out at me and pinned me to the floor.

The cat came to my rescue and bit the monster. I got up and the cat became my pet. I gave it food but I resolved to go back to the house.

When I got there, I fell down a pit and it was full of many objects and a KEY. I grabbed the key and saw a door in the side of the pit.

I used the key and fell into a void and realised I was not in my normal world.

I realised I was in a time loop and I ran to find help. I saw a creature staring at me. I was scared and walked back the way I had come but bumped into a wall with a pile of weapons by it. I grabbed a weapon and used it to defend myself from the creature.

I won the fight and the creature disappeared. I ran away and I was safe.

The End.

The Amazing Pencil

So, I was on my train, and when I arrived, I realised I was the only person on the train. Suddenly it stopped. I got off and was given Super powers.

The next day I was wearing a cape and a mask to hide my identity and I tried to learn what powers I had.

I found out that I could fly, I have super strength and that I can read people's minds.

Then a villain appeared whose name was Mr Ruber and I needed to save the world from him.

He was really strong but I was stronger and I also discovered that I could become invisible.

He ran away but, suddenly, he came back and he was really, really tall. So, I started to fly around him and to read his mind. He was planning to defeat me but I defeated him with my superstrength.

Then another villain came and his name was Mr Bad, but he was weak and I won a fight with him.

Then another villain came, and another and another and another and on and on and on. I defeated them all but sometimes I wonder if the world will ever run out of villains.

The End.

The Food War

Once upon a time in Food Land there was a commotion. So, I went to the village hall to investigate. How could there be such a commotion in such a beautiful village?

Suddenly, Mr Broccoli ran towards me screaming with his muddy green messy hair. He was yelling:

Then Mrs Candy with her luscious red locks shouted:

“Watch out!”

I turned and out of the corner of my eye I saw a colossal wave heading my way.

Seconds later the big wave swooshed me up and I lost consciousness. I awoke to hear an angry ruckus going on, people were shouting and there was the crazy woman with wild hair.

Suddenly Mrs Cloud started to have one of her panic attacks. Then Mrs Pizza came in and saved the day because she still had her phone and it was working and she could call for a plumber.

The End.

The Lost Puppies

It was a beautiful day and Bella decided to go on an adventure to a far forest by herself.

Bella was nine years old and she had short hair and light blue eyes. She lived with her mum and dad.

She walked through the flowers in the meadow and into the forest and she spied something strange moving high up in two of the trees.

‘Could that be two dogs stuck up there?’ she wondered.

She climbed up the first tree and she was shocked to see that it was a baby puppy who couldn’t get back down to the ground. She climbed the next tree and there was another puppy.

She picked them up gently, one by one, and carried them safely down to the ground. Then she went back home with them and begged her mum and dad to let her keep them.

They said yes.

The End.

The Boy who saved the World

It was an ordinary day, Thomas was called to have tea but he wasn't in his room, he was outside.

He said to his Mum:

"I'm on a mission to save the world from the big bad tree."

"Stop being silly," she replied, "anyway it's bed time."

"OK, fine," he said, annoyed.

He sprinted to his room to watch the news and something caught his eye.

"The big bad tree is heading towards the road," screamed the TV.

He ran out of his room to the road and there he saw the big bad tree. He decided he would need science to make a poison to spill on the tree.

To make his poison he needed: soil, grass and water. Luckily, he had these things at his home.

He mixed them all in a pan and it smelled like his mum's perfume.

"Ugh," he gagged, "but I need to rush before the tree causes more trouble."

Just then his best friend, Liz, appeared, she had been in Australia.

"Thomas!" she shouted.

"Liz!" he screamed.

"I've missed you," she said.

"Sorry I have to go," he called rushing past her, "good to see you though."

So, Thomas carried on to the tree, but the tree wasn't there. It was heading to the museum. He raced after it and finally managed to get a bit of the potion onto the tree. He had managed to stop it just outside the children's play park.

So, he played in the park and then had to go home.

If you want to be a scientist, don't make a potion to make things bad, only to make things better.

The End.

The Night before the Zombies Attacked.

On a creepy, gloomy day, Jake saw a magical flower. He bent down to smell it. Suddenly a mysterious animal appeared and he was terrified.

“Where did you come from?” he said.

The mysterious animal didn’t answer him. It just said:

“Follow me.”

So, he followed the mysterious animal.

“Do you know that coffins are supposed to be closed?” said the animal.

“Yeah.”

“Well, look over there.”

He looked and saw an open coffin.

“Cool,” he said.

“Are you being serious? This means the Zombies are going to attack tonight,” said the mysterious animal.

Then he saw a Zombie.

“I believe you now,” he said, “let’s get out of here.”

“OK,” the mysterious animal replied.

Jake thought the animal was not so much mysterious as magical.

“What are you?” Jake asked.

“I am a magical fox,” replied the animal.

“When will the Zombies attack?” asked Jake.

Then, before the fox could reply, a Zombie grabbed Jake and hauled him away into the distance.

The next day, he explained to his family why he had cuts and bruises.

As the next night approached, he saw another coffin slowly open and another, and another and another and the zombies were all creeping out and they were heading his way.

He jumped on his bike and grabbed the sword his dad had made for him when he was little and cycled swiftly to a shop. Not just any shop, but one that had all the things needed to fight zombies. He called his friends to meet him there.

When they came out of the shop, they saw a little girl who was crying and she was terrified. They asked her if she was OK.

She said her grandma had been attacked by a zombie.

Then he saw that a zombie was coming for him, so he went on the attack grabbing his sword and swooping down on the zombie. But the Zombie fought back and cut him and he was turning into a zombie.

When his friend Milly saw what was happening, she stabbed him in the chest to get the zombie poison out. Then she swabbed it and slowly he got better.

He felt weak but knew that they mustn't give up although Milly tried to tell him that he must rest.

The fox had disappeared.

He and his friends all decided that the zombies must be stopped at all costs and if they had to fight them for ever.

“We can do this,” they all said, “we can stop them, OK. We are brave and we are strong and we are kind and loving.”

So, they all set out together to rid the world of zombies for ever.

The End.

In fairyland Liz's mum called her in for tea but she wasn't there.

Liz was calling:

"Ahh! Get me out of here, my mum will be worried about me."

She was right, her mum was worried. Jessica called all night and all day:

"Liz! Liz! Please come home. Where have you gone?"

Meanwhile, Dev was thinking about how many fairies he would need to catch to enable him to rule.

"Ha, ha, if I catch just 5 more fairies I can rule, ha,ha,ha!" he had an evil laugh.

Jessica was beginning to panic:

"My daughter," she said to herself, "I need to ask the town if anyone knows where you are."

She knocked on every door in the town but no-one knew where Liz was until she knocked on Zenday the zombie's door. Zenday was Liz's friend. Zenday's mum didn't know anything but Zenday did.

"Liz went up the rainbow and I think a monster must've grabbed her," he said. He went to say some more but Jessica cut him short.

"Okay, Okay, well I'm going. Thank you." She said and hurried away.

Jessica had a great plan to find the monster and get Liz. First, she got her friend Jeri to help her.

Da Spotty Cow

One day a rumour started about Joe's farm. People said that the people who visited it went missing. They had usually come to see Joe's prize possession, Dotty the spotty cow.

Dotty was acting mysteriously. When she was eating, they saw that she was eating meat instead of the grass that farmer Joe gave her. He hadn't told anyone what she was eating because he was afraid that people might hurt her.

One day, farmer Joe decided he should examine the meat. Dotty saw farmer Joe coming and she smiled. She pulled out a knife and ripped poor Joe to pieces.

Who will be Dotty's next victim?

It might be you!

The End.

Saving the Capybara

Years back there were four capybara and their mum. They lived on a muddy track. The sun shone very day. They felt happy and safe.

But, one day whilst they were sleeping a complete stranger went onto their mud track and started to dig a hole.

The baby capybara woke up beside their mum and discovered the hole.

“Should we go inside the hole?” one baby asked.

“What about Mum?” said another.

“Oh please, I really want to,” said the first one.

“Ok,” said the others and the capybara babies went to look in the hole.

Two hours later their mum woke up. She couldn't see her babies.

"Where are you?" she called.

She went into the garden but she couldn't see them. She was so worried about her babies. She saw the hole but she didn't think much about it, but after 12 o' clock, when they hadn't come back, she went to look in the hole.

It took her 15 long minutes to scramble right to the bottom of the hole. She looked for her babies but they didn't come to her. Then she heard a strange noise coming from far away:

"Where is that noise coming from?" she said.

She saw four little figures coming closer.

She said, "Are you my babies?"

The figures said, "Yes we are."

"I can't believe you are finally back," said their mum.

They all went back up the hole and to their home and they all played for the rest of the day until it was time for dinner.

They all lived happily ever after.

The End.

The Romance between two Penguins

Once upon a time there was a penguin called Michael. He was handsome and he was also a little bit cheeky but I did not care. One day he left his other friends and joined the boys so I decided to join them and play jumping on the ice.

After a while everyone else got tired and went away so it was just Michael and me. He came closer and closer to me.

Then we were caught by our parents and sent into two separate igloos to sleep. We had to stay there for 25 minutes until everyone else was asleep.

Michael was so naughty that he put pillows in his bed to make it look as though he was still there and he sneaked out and so did I.

We went back to the water and he played his guitar for me and it was so romantic.

I loved it so we got closer and closer until he asked me if I wanted to come back with him to his igloo. I agreed and we watched a movie and then we had a tiny shot of wine.

After the wine we got too close and we climbed into bed and fell asleep.

In the morning Michael went somewhere but he didn't tell me where. When he came back, he played a special song for me and asked if I wanted to be his human girlfriend.

I had to think about it for a few days because it was a big decision.

Finally, on Saturday, I went up to him and said:

"Would you really like to get to know me a bit more over time?"

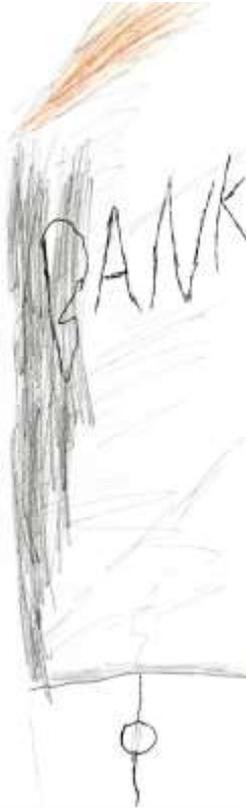

"Yes," he said.

Then I said:

"Then I'll be your girlfriend, and you should know that I am not just a human I am also a penguin and, as a penguin, I could marry you, if you'd like to marry me and I like you much more than all of my friends."

The End.

The Deadly Crime

Once upon a time there was a robber named Lil Timy. Lil Timy wanted to be one of the richest people in the world. He wanted to be richer than Elon Musk. So, he went to the bank but, when he got there, he saw security guards and cameras.

So, Lil Timy waited for nighttime and dressed all in black to camouflage him against the night sky.

As he approached the bank, he saw a security guard coming towards him so he stopped by a black wall so that he wouldn't be spotted.

His next mission was to try to get into the bank without getting caught and killed.

He managed to get into the bank but the Manager was still there.

"Customers are not allowed in this part of the bank," he said, "you should be in the hall."

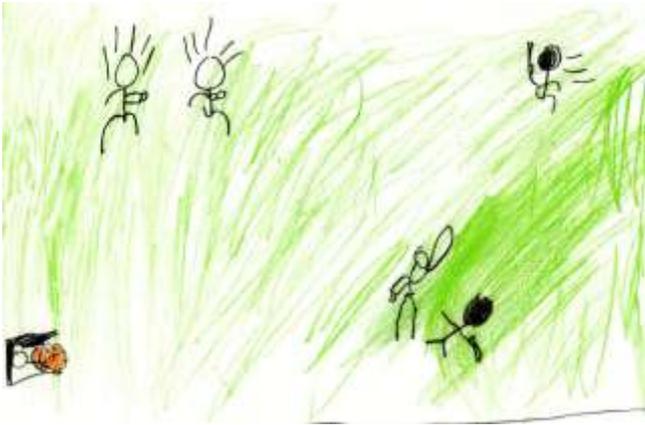

On his way to the hall Lil Timy saw the safe with the money in it.

He blew the safe, grabbed the money and walked back past the manager saying that he had left his wallet in his car and that he would be back in a minute. But he drove away.

When the manager realised the money was gone, he went to check the security cameras but both Lil Timy and his car had vanished.

The End.

The Lake

Three boys go to the lake.

But there was something at the lake and it seemed to be all over the place, there and there and there.

The strange thing caught Ben and it cut his arm off:

“Help! Help!” he cried.

They all ran away to the nearest building which was a hotel. But the strange things had followed them in.

The boys ran out but one was caught and the thing cut his arms off.

Now Luke was the only one to still have arms.

He ran to the car to get away but one of the things had broken in. He ran away and escaped and decided that he needed to get people to help him set a trap for the strange things.

The End.

The Great Adventure of Kosta the Amazing Dolphin.

The crocodile is running around and chasing all the fish. There is a lake in the mountains and the mountains are green with lots of leaves and trees. The lake is cold, shimmery and gigantic. The weather is cold and rainy. There are lots of stars shining in the night.

The polar bear is sleeping with is mum and dad. They are having a cuddle.

The seal has big hands, a huge tail and whiskers. He is sitting out of the water on a rock.

The dolphin is jumping right over the rest of his family of dolphins. He has a superpower – superspeed.

The dolphin did brilliant jumping and is given fish as a way to say 'well done.'

All the dolphins are playing and splashing each other. Then they eat their lunch and fall asleep together as a family.

The dolphins wake up and play tricks on the humans on the beach.

The End.

The Turkey who saved Christmas

The turkey was sleeping peacefully, until he was woken by an alarm.

“Oh No! This means Santa’s in trouble,” he shouted, “I need to hurry up. Activate fly mode.”

“Don’t eat those!” Turkey shouted to Santa who was about to eat a mince pie.

“Why?” asked Santa.

“Because there are bombs in them.”

“Really?” said Santa.

“Yeah,” said turkey, “just drink the milk.”

Santa was just about to leave when he shouted for help. An elf had got a knife and was in the building.

They chased him out of the building.

“Has he gone?” asked Santa.

“I don’t know, let me check,” said turkey bravely.

“He’s gone, but we still have to deliver all the presents to the kids. Let’s get on your sleigh and do it, OK?” said turkey.

They went off to deliver the presents but everywhere they went they had to check that the evil elf with the knife wasn’t hiding somewhere.

Sometimes they thought they saw him, but the elf never managed to catch them and all the presents were delivered thanks to the turkey that saved Christmas.

The End.

Water King vs Juice King

Chapter 1

Once upon a time there were two lands who were friends. They were called Atlantic Ocean which was water land and a cup of juice which was called Juice land. The kings of the lands used to share their palace, one side of it was orange for Capri Sun and one side was clear and blue for water.

But they didn't stay friends and it was not long before they started fighting. The people locked them up in cages that were down by the beach.

Chapter 2

Eventually they were let out of their cages when they promised to stop fighting. The juice king was sitting in his palace waiting for a package to arrive. When it came, he realised it was from Atlantic Ocean and he binned it.

Then the package said:

“Hey, that hurt me.”

He picked it out of the bin and opened it. There was a plant in the box which he touched accidentally and realised it was a new island that sat in-between their lakes.

Chapter 3

When he sent the package to juice king, water king had put tiny hidden cameras in the package to see what the juice king would do.

He saw the juice king put the package in the bin and hurt it and he wanted revenge.

He went to get his revenge by sneaking into the Juice king's part of the palace to get his new island friend. There was a stool stuck to the ground and the new island's character was stuck under the stool.

He pulled and pulled until his arms started to rip, then he fell over a trip wire and died.

Chapter 4

The Juice King had put the trip wire because he knew the water king would try to get the new island's character. But when the Juice King had killed him there was suddenly water and broken glass everywhere.

The Juice King and his minsters scooped up the water and made Robinson's and that was the character of the new island – Juice and Water combined.

Chapter 5

Where the water king's glass had shattered there were little bits of glass everywhere on the floor. The Juice king stepped on the glass and he died.

So, the Water King and the Juice king's sons took over and ruled happily ever after as they remained friends.

The End.

The Lucky Football

It was a chilly Tuesday night and Enzo and his team were training for their match on Sunday against Greenbank.

“GOAL!!!!!!” shouted Enzo loudly as he scored ANOTHER goal. His team mates ran up to him and hugged him; the score was now 4 – 0.

After the training session the team sat in the locker room together with their refreshing water and fresh juicy grapes.

“I can’t believe how many goals you scored Enzo,” smiled Tommy, “what amazing goals!”

“Thanks, but I don’t think it was me, I think it was this ball, I think it’s lucky,” said Enzo.

Over the next couple of training sessions Enzo and his team mates scored more and more goals.

“I think you’re right Enzo, this IS a lucky ball,” shouted Tommy as he scored a goal.

“We must use it in our match on Sunday,” shouted Enzo.

Little did they know that high in a leafy tree Messi was lurking and with his binoculars was spying on the team.

‘I must have that lucky ball,’ he whispered to himself.

That evening Messi crept into the locker room. He looked everywhere but at first he couldn’t find it.

Then, just as he was about to give up, he spied it and quickly grabbed it and crept away.

Will Enzo’s team still be able to score goals without their lucky ball?

The End.
